From Tuesday December 5. to Saturday December 9. 1727.

Dublin, November 30.

ON Tuesday the 28th Instant the Parliament having met according to Appointment, his Excellency the Lord-Lieutenant went in State to the House of Peers, and being seated on the Throne with the usual Ceremony, his Excellency sent for the Commons, and directed them to chuse a Speaker; and they having unanimously elected the Right Honourable William Conolly, Esq; into that Office, he was by them presented, and was approved by his Excellency. Afterwards his Excellency made a Speech to both Houses, who unanimously Resolved upon humble and dutiful Addresses to His Majesty, which were this Day presented to his Excellency.

His Excellency John Lord Carteret Lord-Lieutenant-General and General Governour of Ireland, his Speech to both Houses of Parliament, at Dublin: On Tuesday the 28th Day of November, 1727.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

HIS Majesty has been graciously pleased to call you together, as soon after the Decease of His Royal Father, our late most gracious Sovereign, of Glorious Memory, as the necessary Affairs of His Government would permit.

The Death of so Good and Great a King, must no doubt in a very sensible Manner have affected the Subjects of this Kingdom, who during the whole Course of His Reign, so remarkably exerted themselves in the Support of His Government, and the Succession in His Royal House.

But that great Loss has been repair'd by His Majesty's peaceable Accession to the Throne of His Royal Ancestors, by which all the Blessings of the late Reign have not only been continued to us, but secured in their utmost Extent.

The Regard His Majesty has shewn to the Religion, Laws and Liberties of His People, and the Assurances He has been pleased to give, That the Preservation of the Constitution in Church and State as it is now happily Established, shall be His first, and always His chief Care, must make the deepest Impression upon us, as they are known to proceed from the Sincerity of His Royal Heart, and from His Knowledge and Love of our Constitution.

These gracious Instances of His Majesty's Concern for the Happiness of His People, and the good Opinion He has always had of the Loyalty and Affection of His Subjects of Ireland, will, I am perswaded, Engage you with the greatest Zeal and Unanimity to support His Government.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I have ordered the proper Officers to lay before you the several Accounts and Estimates, and have nothing in Command from His Majesty to ask, but the necessary Supplies for the Support of the Establishment, and for the Defence and Security of this Kingdom: And His Majesty doubts not, but you will give as great Testimonies of Duty and Affection to Him, as have been given to any of His Royal Predecessors.

The Necessity of the publick Service having required that some of the Regiments upon this Establishment should be sent Abroad, His Majesty has determined to replace them as soon as the Exigency of His Affairs will permit. And I think myself obliged to take Notice on this Occasion, that the seasonable Resolution of the last House of Commons, to enable His late Majesty to put this Kingdom and the Forces on this Establishment into such a Condition as might contribute to disappoint all Attempts of His Enemies, hath greatly conduced to the Purposes for which it was intended.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I recommend to you to consider of such Laws as may be necessary to be made or continued for the Encouragement of your Manufactures, the Employment of the Poor, and the general Good of this Country; and to enforce the Execution of those that relate to the Security of the Publick, and the preventing Popish Priests and Regulars from coming into this Kingdom.

The Experience I have already had of His Majesty's Subjects of Ireland, makes my Return to this Government most agreeable to me. I doubt not, but the Behaviour of this Parliament will be such, as will recommend you in the most effectual Manner to His Royal Favour; and as I shall be glad of every Opportunity to promote the Welfare of this Kingdom, I shall represent in the strongest Manner to His Majesty, your Duty, Loyalty and Affection to His Sacred Person and Government.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament assembled, with all Humility lay hold of this first Opportunity to approach your sacred Person, and condole with you upon the Death of your Royal Father our late most gracious Sovereign, of glorious glorious Memory; at the ſame Time beſeeching your Majeſty to accept our ſincereſt Congratulations upon your peaceable and happy Acceſſion to the Throne of theſe Kingdoms.

The Death of ſo great and good a Prince, could not but in the moſt ſenſible Manner affect the Hearts of your faithful Subjects of this Kingdom, who had ſo long enjoyed an uninterrupted Courſe of many great and ſignal Bleſſings under his mild and juſt Adminiſtration; but we muſt ever thankfully acknowledge, that the Divine Goodneſs has fully repaired this Loſs, by placing your Majeſty upon the Throne of your Royal Anceſtors, which has not only continued and ſecured all thoſe Bleſſings to us, but given us the pleaſing Proſpect of ſtill greater under your moſt auſpicious Reign.

The Regard your Majeſty has ſhewn to the Religion, Laws and Liberties of your People, your Knowledge and Love of our Conſtitution in Church and State, are, under God's good Providence, ſure Foundations of all that publick Happineſs which we can hope for from the undiſturbed Enjoyment of all our religious and civil Rights. But when we further conſider your Majeſty's Royal Virtues, which ſo eminently qualify you for the Rule and Conduct of a great People, the diſtinguiſhed Merit of the Queen your Royal Conſort, and the promiſing Appearances of the ſame hereditary Virtues in your numerous and Royal Iſſue, we juſtly enlarge our Hopes, and can ſet no Bounds to the growing Happineſs of theſe Nations under your illuſtrious and Royal Houſe.

Your calling us together ſo ſoon after the Deceaſe of your Royal Father, to conſider of ſuch Laws as may be found neceſſary to encourage our Manufactures, to employ our Poor, and provide for the Safety of the Kingdom; is ſo great an Inſtance of your early and paternal Care for it, as muſt ever beget in us a ſuitable Return of Duty and Zeal for your ſacred Perſon and Government.

Nor can we omit to acknowledge it as a further Inſtance of your Goodneſs to this Kingdom, that you have been pleaſed to continue the Government of it in his Excellency the Lord Carteret; the Confidence placed in him by two great Kings, and the Experience we have had of his conſtant Endeavours equally to promote the Service of your Majeſty and the Intereſt of your People, muſt ever make his Government moſt acceptable to us.

We want Words to expreſs the grateful Sentiments of our Hearts, for the good Opinion your Majeſty has been pleaſed to entertain of the Loyalty and Affections of your Subjects of Ireland: This and the many Inſtances you have given us of your tender Concern for your Peoples Welfare, call upon us for the higheſt Returns of Duty Zeal and Affection to your Majeſty's Perſon and Government. And we aſſure your Majeſty, that we will, with the utmoſt Chearfulneſs and Unanimity, do every thing in our Power that may contribute to ſupport and defend your Government, and the Succeſſion in your Royal Line.

The Lord-Lieutenant's Anſwer to the Lords Addreſs to His Majeſty.

I Will forthwith tranſmit this Dutiful and Loyal Addreſs, in order to be laid before His Majeſty.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens and Burgeſſes in Parliament aſſembled.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament aſſembled, humbly beg Leave to approach your ſacred Perſon, to expreſs our Sorrow for the Death of your Royal Father, our late moſt Excellent King.

The Loſs of a Prince, under whoſe prudent Government your People enjoyed the greateſt Security and Happineſs, affected in the moſt ſenſible Manner the Subjects of this Kingdom; and the real Grief with which our Hearts were filled, could be removed only by the Goodneſs of Providence, which placed your Majeſty on the Throne, and gave us a firm Aſſurance of all the Bleſſings which the beſt of Princes can confer on the happieſt People.

Our unfeigned Congratulations upon your Majeſty's peaceable Acceſſion to the Throne of your Anceſtors, are farther heightned by that Proſpect of Happineſs, which your Majeſty and your Royal Conſort our moſt gracious Queen, have extended to our Poſterity by a numerous and Royal Iſſue, and by ſetting before them an Example of all thoſe Virtues which are requiſite to adorn the Throne and bleſs a Nation.

We return your Majeſty our moſt humble Thanks for being pleaſed to call your People together in Parliament, as ſoon as the neceſſary Affairs of your Government would permit; and we gladly lay hold on this Opportunity of expreſſing that grateful Senſe which your Commons will ever entertain for the Regard you have ſhewn to the Religion, Laws and Liberties of your Subjects; and for confirming the Sentiments they always had of your great Goodneſs, by the ſolemn Declaration you have graciouſly made, that the Preſervation of the Conſtitution in Church and State, as it is now happily eſtabliſhed, ſhall be your firſt and always your chief Care; which could proceed from no other than a Heart filled with the moſt conſummate Knowledge and Love of our Conſtitution.

And we aſſure your Majeſty, that we ſhall conſtantly endeavour, by our Unanimity and Zeal for your Service, and the Support of your Government, to deſerve and obtain the Continuance of your Royal Favour and Protection.

We entreat your Majeſty to accept our humbleſt Acknowledgments for the many Inſtances of your Royal Goodneſs to your Subjects of this Kingdom, and particularly for committing the Government of it to his Excellency the Lord Carteret, of whoſe ſteady Loyalty to your ſacred Perſon, and of whoſe Ability and Zeal to promote the Welfare and Proſperity of your People, we have had the fulleſt Experience.

We will with all Diligence apply ourſelves to conſider of and prepare ſuch Laws as may conduce to the general Good, and particularly of ſuch as may prevent Popiſh Prieſts and Regulars from coming into this Kingdom, and continue ſuch others as have been found to contribute to the Intereſt and Advantage of this Nation.

And

And to convince the World that your Majesty has the intire Possession of the Hearts of your faithful Commons of Ireland, we will not fail to give as great Testimonies of our Duty and Affection to your Majesty, as have been ever given to any of your Royal Predecessors, by providing with the utmost Chearfulness and Unanimity such necessary Supplies for the Support of your Government, as shall enable your Majesty to keep the Forces on this Establishment in a Condition to disappoint the Attempts of your Enemies.

Bruen Worthington, and Isaac Ambrose, } Cl. Parl. Dom. Com.
